- To listen to a particular podcast, you do not need to subscribe. However, you do need to be connected to the Internet.
 - Just click on the orange “listen” symbol and your computer, cell phone or other MP3 player will begin playing the podcast.
 - If you want to stay updated on our new podcasts, send your contact information to laura@corinthian-consulting.com and we’ll send you periodic email alerts. Alternatively, you can follow Laura on Twitter (by clicking on the light blue Twitter button) and she’ll announce any updates along with other items of interest.
- If you would prefer to listen to our podcasts while not connected to the Internet – for example, while you are driving or on a hike – you can download and store them for future listening.
 - To download a particular podcast, just right-click or Control-click on the orange “listen” symbol and select “save.” However, this process can be time-consuming.
 - Instead, you can subscribe to our podcast series via iTunes and they will be downloaded automatically.
- To subscribe, you will need an iTunes account.
 - If you already have an iTunes account, just click on the purple button.
 - If you do not already have an iTunes account, you will need to first create one. You can access iTunes on either a Mac or PC.
 - Just click here – <http://www.apple.com/itunes/download/> – and follow the directions to download iTunes and set up your account. You will need to select “run,” restart your computer, and then open the iTunes file to complete the process. (Hint: under “settings” on your podcast page, you will want to select “download all”). Then return to our podcast page and click on the purple button.
- Once you have subscribed, all of our existing and future podcasts will be downloaded automatically to your iTunes account and stored on your computer, cell phone or other MP3 player for future listening.

Enjoy!
